

Asian Journal of Mycology News

Congratulations to Dr. Kasun Thambugala

Congratulations on your new job at Thammasat University

Dr. Kasun Thambugala who graduated with a PhD from the Centre of Excellence in Fungal Research in 2018 has been appointed as a Senior Lecturer at the Faculty of Science and Technology, Thammasat University, Thailand. He is teaching Industrial Microbiology and Fermentation Technology, General Biochemistry, Bioinformatics, Biological Control (plant pests and diseases) in the Industrial Science and Management International Program.

Kasun is currently carrying out research in pathogens of agriculturally and economically important plants, biological control of ornamental plant diseases and analysis of secondary metabolites in Dothideomycetes

We wish you good luck with your new position